MARCH ON MART BEGINS FRIDAY

People who aren't aware by now that Christmas is just around the corner probably are too far gone to respond to our feeble publisher. They are lost souls who will go through the season without ever knowing it has been here. They are quite hopeless and we give them up. Even so we see our duty and we do it: This is to inform them and everyone that Christmas is approaching.

There are, to be sure, other reminders of it by the dozen. In downtown for instance, one sees Christmas in the hurrying crowds, in the street and store decorations, in the Christmas packages under every arm; one hears it in the quickening tone of holiday conversation; one feels it in the air. The signs of approaching Christmas are many and colorful, and they make of two or three weeks before the day itself a period of anticipation and excitement like no other in the year. People who let it go by unnoticed are people to be pitied.

The Christmas season this year is in a number of ways several jumps ahead of its recent predecessors. Nobody ever saw so many people downtown, many of them apparently from out of town come to the stores to do their Christmas shopping. All the stores are full and predicting record sales. The post office is more than holding its own.

All such matters fire us with great amounts of enthusiasm. We are the original Christmas fan, and have acquired our Christmas spirit even if the shopping must wait until later. It is a feeling, we think, which is eminently more satisfactory when shared with others. In the Christmas season, as in no other, it is better to give than to receive, even if one's only gift is a part of the feeling for Christmas. In a Christmas when many people will be happy, it is unfortunate that not everyone will be. In Cameron at any rate, make their number as small as it can be.

How did the ancient myth of Santa Claus start? Who conceived the idea that this jolly embodiment of good will prances over the tops of the homes with his reindeer, carrying loads of gifts?

The Santa Claus idea appears to trace back to old Saint Nicholas, a highly popular saint of the Roman Catholic and Russian churches. This famous personage was venerated as the patron of young people. The day of his death, just before Christmas, was widely observed. So people gained the idea that the gifts of the holiday came from his favor. The Dutch called him Santa Claus, from which our name comes.

The parents of former times would welcome such a story. It must have had a quickening effect on children to remind them that Santa Claus was about to make his rounds. As he only gave gifts to good children, the boy who stole the cake and the girls who told the wrong stories could not expect any gifts coming down the chimney.

The modern child is too sophisticated to attach weight to such a legend. If he at first accepts the old tale, his faith soon disappears. He wonders that his parents still attach weight to such an imaginative fable.

Santa Claus in fact may not exist, but his spirit lives on. Some things that are not true literally, yet come closer to the heart of life than any actual things you can see and touch. Whenever anyone goes out of his way to do things for which he expects no reward, he becomes a Santa Claus for the time being. The world becomes happier for his presence.

Christmas toylands of 1936 offer to children joys to be remembered through long lives. New ideas in toys are legion; reflecting modern inventions, many were unheard of not many years ago.

Bringing joy to children's hearts the best of the Christmas season. Old and Young alike miss much that is enduringly good if they fail to make trips through the toylands this year.

"More men, more money, more guns for the Italian armed establishment." One theory is that H. Duce has become frightened by something he said.

Dave McLane, special officer and night watchman at the Robert McLane Company, was accidentally shot in the right leg below the knee on Monday morning when his gun dropped from its holster and was discharged.

While the wound is serious he will recover and amputation may not be necessary.

Mrs. Georgie Stephens, state health nurse from the department at Austin, was in Cameron this week visiting a few days with Miss Pearl Fulcro, county nurse.

CORRECTION

In the published article last week giving account of the fire that destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Bryant at Mnerva, it was reported that the home and contents were partially covered by insurance. This was erroneous. No insurance was carried and the loss was complete.

DR. J. C. HERRING IS BURIED ON WEDNESDAY

Dr. J. C. Herring, 75, pioneer physician and for 35 years a resident of Milam county, died at a local hospital to which place he was removed from his home in Burlington Monday morning.

Dr. Herring suffered a heart stroke Sunday at 5 p. m. in his drug store in Burlington. When his condition became alarming late Sunday night and Monday morning he was brought to Cameron in a Leland Green ambulance for treatment. He died at 10:30 a. m. Monday morning November 28, 1936.

If he had lived until December 22nd he would have been 75 years of age. Dr. Herring was a native Texan, born at Woodville. He was postmaster at Burlington for many years, owned a drug store and had practiced medicine there for 22 years.

Dr. Herring practiced medicine in Jones Prairie where was married, at Cyclone, Temple and finally at Burlington.

Dr. Herring was an outstanding citizen and possessed many traits by which he drew to himself strong friendships. He never found life too exacting to enjoy his friends and aside from his business and practice cultivated a warm and generous nature.

He is survived by his widow and children as follows: Mrs. John Wilkinson of Coleman; George Herring, Clinton Herring and Mrs. Arthur Gilliland of Houston; Carlton Herring of New York; Mrs. Joe Marek of Belmena and Mrs. Jerome McAtee of Burlington.

Funeral services scheduled for Tuesday were held up to await the arrival of Carlton Herring of New York who left the east by plane Monday but was forced to land somewhere enroute on account of blizzards and obliged to proceed by train.

Dr. Herring was a member of the Baptist church in Burlington. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at Little River Church with the Leland Green Funeral Home directing arrangements. Rev. Vernon G. Miles, pastor First Baptist Church in Cameron, conducted the services. The body was buried near that of a nine year old daughter, Olga, who died a number of years ago.

A nephew, Carl Black, resides in Cameron.

Bradbury Clearance Sale Opens Friday December 4th

C. W. Bradbury's announcement of December clearance is the most important merchandising announcement of the season. The sale opens on Friday morning December 4th and is to continue for several weeks.

Mr. Bradbury says he must clear the fall merchandise out to make room for holiday stocks. Much of this stock cannot now be replaced in the wholesale markets, but is being swept out at clearance prices.

The Bradbury store has been selling quality merchandise for 16 years in Cameron. The sale, he says, is not another cheap attempt at merchandising but comprehends great savings on high quality merchandise for which the store has been celebrated for more than 16 years.

In the published advertisement Mr. Bradbury states his reasons for the clearance, an unusually frank statement and in keeping with the dignity and reputation of this fine store.

CHILD TURNING TO STONE

Davenport, Iowa.—With both legs paralyzed and almost blinded by a disease which is turning her body into stone, little Joan Belk, 3 years old, continues cheerful, although growing rapidly weaker. Physicians see no hope of stopping the progress of the malady known as osteosclerosis congenita.

John Davis who is attending a business college in Houston spent the Thanksgiving holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Judd Davis.

GAME AT 7:30 P. M.

Cameron fans were preparing for the 70 mile journey Friday night to Mart where the Yoemen engage the District 25-B champions in a bi-district game. The game was taken to the enemy field on the flip of a coin.

Temple invited the teams to play in that city. Due to the distance Cameron feels some disappointment. It will be necessary for game patrons to leave the city in midafternoon to reach Mart in time as the game has been called for 7:30 p. m. it was announced Monday by Coach L. C. Wood.

The Mart field is short of seating capacity, it was said, but Cameron fans were due to go in considerable numbers. The Band will play for the game.

Men Training

Coach Wood was running his men through the training grind again. Both teams are comparatively light and fast. Mart has the heavier team and the best scoring record and is due to win, the dope barometer says. The Yoemen say different and it's going to be a ball game from start to finish. Collapse of the Yoemen backfield in the Belton game was a disaster of the first magnitude. In the Waco game the backs pulled up a few notches on the average and may come through to equal the line in the bi-district game.

Cheering news came late Tuesday when it was announced that Jimmie Stewart, end, out with he mumps, will play and barring injuries in practice this week the entire team will be in tip top shape for the game. There will be no alibis and the best team will win.

FUNERAL HOME TO BE MOVED SHORTLY

A development of wide interest in business circles this week is the announcement of Leland Green that the Leland Green Funeral Home, will be moved to the building formerly occupied by the Max Collins, tailoring business.

Extensive improvements are to be made in the Green & Boedeker store where the home and funeral chapel has been located. A partition wall will be removed and hundreds of feet of floor space will be thrown open to use for the hardware store. This added space will give the firm ample room for its giant stock of hardware, will afford display windows and counters.

Building Remodeled

Over in the Collins building which is located directly across the street improvements are to be made also. The show windows will be discarded and the insert doors that now afford an entrance lobby will be moved to the street line with the windows, greatly increasing floor space. In the building a chapel will be built.

Thus for the first time Cameron will have a chapel built for funeral services with the conveniences of a church.

In the west end of the building a stock and embalming room will be built. "I am proud of this progress," said Mr. Green, "and glad to announce that a modern funeral home will soon be available in Cameron where every convenience will be realized. In our present building much needed space for merchandising will be made available. Our chapel and funeral home will be exclusive and strictly aside from the noise and harshness of the business district."

NO KISS, NO DAMAGE

Worcester, Mass.—No kiss, no damages, for Miss Dorothy Bellows, it seems. Refusing to kiss her escort, John Mucha, during an automobile ride and a poke in the ribs were claimed as contributing causes to the collision of the automobile with a tree. She asked $1,000 damages for injuries she received in the wreck.

Bank

call on this warrant, other than that it will be a month or more before money is available.

It is possible to cash these warrants at a 1 per cent discount through the Citizens National Bank at Cameron, Texas. A draft is drawn on this bank and the warrant is attached to it.

I sincerely hope this will clear up this unfortunate situation.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) J. C. Ratsek
Horticulturist.

Issued by State

This warrant was issued by the State in payment of purchases made in London to forward the work of the A & M College, East Texas Soil Erosion, and is an example of the extent to which our educational institutions go in an effort to solve the problems confronting our farmers and citizens in general.

Began 4 Years Ago

When the State of Texas General Revenue Fund went on a deficiency basis four years ago in the midst of the depression, our local bank, realizing that there could be no safer investment for its funds, began a statewide service of cashing at a discount the State of Texas General Revenue Warrants issued in payment of salaries and supplies purchased by the State. For months it was a lone bidder for these warrants and built up a statewide business before it was followed by other banks over the State. Now, four years later, our bank is still by far the largest purchaser of State Warrants. These warrants have arrived from many distant states but this is the first time one has been received from over seas.

English Tax 16c

Of interest in connection with this draft and warrant is an English six pence stamp attached to the draft equal to twelve cents and an English two pence stamp placed opposite the first indorsement on the warrant equal to four cents, or a total tax of sixteen cents on a transaction of less $100. There would have been no tax on this transaction in the old U. S. A.

BABE OF BETHLEHEM

On Christmas the whole Christian world prostrates itself in adoration around the crib of Bethlehem and rehearses in accents of love a history which precedes all time and will endure throughout eternity. As if by instinct of our higher, spiritual nature, there well up from the depth of our hearts emotions which challenge the power of human expression. We seem to be lifted out of the sphere of natural endeavor to put on a new life and to stretch forward in desire to a blessedness which though not palpable, is eminently real.—Cardinal Gibbons.

HE WAS A DUTCH BOY

Christmas was celebrated long before Santa Claus was ever thought of. His prototype was the Dutch boy bishop, St. Nicholas, who on December 5 used to go round punishing little children who did not say their prayers and rewarding those who did. Gradually he was changed from a boy into a jovial old man, while the sledge and reindeer are modern additions. Actually, Santa Claus was unknown in England a hundred years ago. The Dutch founders of New York introduced him to America, and England borrowed him from the State.—London Tit-Bit Magazine.

SANTA CLAUS

There is a Santa Claus. His real name is Spirit of Charity. He is the symbol of benevolence, compassion and altruism. He is the ideal of that small legion of really human humans who pave unselfishly numerous paths to happiness with kindness, sympathy and charity.

Believe in Yuletide for Dead

Kitzbühel, Austria, is one of the few places in the world which believe that the dead should share in the Yuletide celebration. On Christmas eve, this picturesque little village in the Tyrol has, for many years, decorated each grave in its cemetery with a tree lighted by candles and other small lights.—Collier's Weekly.

The Cherry Log Knew It Was Christmas Time

The woodshed was filled with logs. They reached up to the ceiling, and there were so many that some were lying outside the woodshed.

They would be put inside when there was room made for them. They would burn well, too, as they were fine and dry, having been cut the year before.

And at Christmas time it didn't matter how many logs were burned.

At other times perhaps one was more economical with the fire, letting it die down earlier in the evening, or not putting on a log when one might have been nice for the evening ahead.

But at Christmas time nothing mattered. Every one burned as many logs as possible.

A splendid, roaring fire was kept up all the time, and if the fire did not burn brightly at once no one cared whether lots of kindling was used.

It was Christmas time and the fire must be kept very bright. The cheery logs knew that.—Mary Graham Bonner.

THE IMPORTANCE OF AIR!

Requirement of food, water and air to sustain life.

Food . . 3 pounds per day { An adult can exist for approximately 40 days without food

Water . 4 pounds per day { An adult can exist for approximately 12 days without water

Air . . 27 pounds per day { An adult can exist for approximately 10 minutes without air

The air supply of a person is of first importance. Therefore it is a wise precaution to keep the air in the home during winter as pure as the warm oxygen-laden air of summer. A room that is poorly ventilated can be injurious to health. Inadequate fresh air and a lack of pure, warmed air throughout the home make it easy to "catch cold."

A simple method of providing a constant circulation of fresh air is found by keeping a window in each room slightly open. Connecting doors left open between adjoining rooms, when the entire house is adequately heated, provide a natural circulation of pure, warmed air from one room to another.

Never permit the air you breathe to become "stuffy" through lack of pure air circulation. Heat your entire house and provide fresh air ventilation for your health's sake. It's important to you and your family.

Discover Rare Fish With "Port Holes"

Capetown, South Africa. — A deep sea fish with illuminated "port holes" has been found here. Known as "Astronesthes Boulengeri," it is only the fourth of its kind known to science.

Tiny holes, brightly illuminated, are strung along the lower side of the body. The head of the fish is strikingly like a wildcat's. Huge teeth, like curved needles, protrude from the gaping mouth. In addition, there are two sets of external teeth ranging backward from the jaw.

CALLING "SO LONG," HE DIVES TO DEATH

Youth Hurls Himself From the Empire State Building.

New York.—Calling out a jaunty "So long, folks," to persons nearby, Robert F. Erskine, twenty-three year old Bronxville newspaper reporter, leaped from the 86th floor observation tower of the Empire State building to his death on the sidewalk below.

In making his dramatic dive from the parapet of the tower, Erskine lunged forward into space. His body cleared three terrified spectators and landed in 33d street. Others have leaped from the tower of the world's tallest building, but this suicide was the first case in which the body has not been intercepted by the lower terraces before reaching the street.

A guide was leading a party of sightseers, of which Erskine was a member, around the terrace, pointing out the sights. Erskine fell behind, and as the party turned a corner he was out of sight of the guide and the guards who patrol the terrace. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson P. Bramback of Van Wert, O., and their two children were nearest him and saw his leap.

The street into which Erskine fell was crowded with shoppers and his plunging body narrowly missed several pedestrians. A large crowd collected quickly.

The body was taken to a morgue, where identification was made through cards found in the pockets. A watch and chain and $9 in bills also were found in the pockets, but no notes. The youth's father, James Erskine, and a brother were unable to ascribe a possible motive for the act.

Erskine was the fourth person to be killed in a fall or leap from the building since 1931, when it was under construction. A workman fell through the ironwork and was killed; another man and a young woman were killed in plunges after the structure was completed.

Lynched for Murder but

His "Victim" Still Lived

Sacramento, Cal. — Lynched for murder—yet his "victim" lived!

Musty records recently uncovered here revealed that in 1850 Frederick J. Roe, a professional gambler, shot Charles H. Myers, a peaceful citizen, when the latter attempted to stop a fight between Roe and another man.

Because of the popularity of Myers, a crowd quickly gathered and demanded Roe be hanged for the shooting, although Myers still was alive.

Using every means at his command, N. C. Cunningham, the city marshal, appeared on the scene, pleaded for law and order and finally succeeded in spiriting Roe off to the bastille.

But still the crowd howled. A jury was hastily summoned and, goaded to action by the yells and curses of 2,500 men and women outside, quickly returned a verdict of murder — although Myers still lived.

The mob then stormed the jail, seized Roe, took him several paces away and hanged him to a tree.

It was not until several days later that Myers, the "murdered" man, died.

Carrying home-made cardboard signs slung over his shoulders Toderan trudged through the noonday throngs of Detroit's main thoroughfare with a legend which read:

"My services can be obtained for a reasonable remuneration."

Toderan, who had been out of work since he graduated from high school three years ago, said he had received two offers of work as a result of his sandwich walking.

Mr. O'Brien, who is in the oil business, said, "It was not until I was twenty-seven years old that I discovered that the man whom I had always supposed to be my father was only my stepfather."

Advertising Aids Texaco Sales

W. A. L. Robinson, popular Cameron business man who operates the Certified Texaco service station one block north of the Henderson building, announced to a Herald reporter here Saturday morning that advertising in the local newspapers was largely responsible for his station winning first place in the Texaco Houston District sales contest. This station won first place over 312 other certified Texaco service stations.

Robinson was rewarded with a trip to the Texaco Refinery at Port Arthur, the can and roofing plant at Port Neches and a four day trip on the Texaco Yatch, visiting cities along the Gulf coast.

Has Good Crew

Second to newspaper advertising, are the filling station attendants L. H. Stedman, Matt Terry and Heface Leonard, Robinson declared. These men aided in the contest by giving courteous and efficient service that is traditional of a Certified Texaco Station.

In order to accommodate the large volume of business, this station is building a new greasing department, also repainting the entire establishment.

Proper Size For Toy Blocks

Four inches long by two inches square is a good size for children's building blocks, according to educational experts. These can be made at home by cutting them from a 2 by 2 planed joist, sandpapering the edges and corners to a slight roundness, and painting them in bright colors. Old, worn blocks can be given a new lease on life by enameling them in gay hues.

Mothers' Night Ancient English Christmas Name

The oldest English name for Christmas is Moddra Night, or Mothers' Night. In the early days, when our Saxon forefathers had just settled down in the country that was to be England, the day of December 25th was given up to games and feasting, but the night was dedicated to the special honor of mothers. They occupied the seats of honor, and everyone brought them gifts. Sons and daughters who had gone out into the world strove to be at home on that one night in the year.

A little later the same Yule was given to Christmas, and the rejoicings of the day were prolonged into night, when men sang and told stories of the Yule log.

The old customs of Mothers' Night gradually died out, though they still survive in a few parts of the country. Its place has been taken to some extent by Mothering Sunday in the North of England. On that day everyone who can do so still makes a pilgrimage homewards, and the mother receives the homage of her family.—London Tit-Bit Magazine.

Christmas Cards Old Custom

The sending of Christmas cards by way of friendly greeting and remembrance has grown up since about 1860.

Santa as He Appears in the Different Countries

So Santa Claus wears a red suit and a long white beard, and when he isn't busy in the toy store, drives a sleigh pulled by Donner and Blitzen?

Not if you live in Hawaii. There, on a moonlit December night, you might see Santa come riding in from the ocean on a surf-board. As likely as not there would be a lei, or wreath of flowers, about his neck, though he wears the same red suit and waterproof boots he dons for boys and girls of the United States since Hawaii is really American territory.

In the Philippines, though it, too is American, the white cap turns conical like a Spanish clown's. He which helps him find the home of every good boy and girl, and drives buffalo, which they call carabao. The gifts are packed in baskets slung across the backs of these creatures.

What would you think of Santa in a rickshaw? But, after all, if you were a Chinese child isn't that what you would expect? And Santa never disappoints. In Japan he sits with his feet tucked under him to take his tea on a wintery afternoon, and in the African tropics, well, you just wouldn't recognize the red suit! He has even taken to using the airplane in our own country. I am sure that when he leaves the reindeer in his barn, he pats the nose of each one and urges the ice elves to feed them plenty of reindeer moss till he comes home again.—Frances Grinstead.

The Christmas Mince Pie

The inevitability of hot mince pie on the Christmas board explains why it is well for the national digestion that there is only one Christmas dinner a year.

MANY TYPES OF HOLLY

Holly, so popular as a Christmas decoration, is most abundant along the bottom lands of eastern Texas and southern Arkansas. There are about 175 species of holly found throughout the world, the largest being the American holly which attains a height of 50 feet. The red-berried holly is most common, although some species bear yellow berries and others black.

Miss Dora Emily Moore Becomes the Bride of Dix Laughter In Houston Church Ceremony

A notable wedding of the season took place at Holy Cross Episcopal Church, Houston, Friday morning November 27 at 10 o'clock when Miss Dora Emily Moore, daughter of Geo. T. Moore, Sr., and the late Mrs. Moore, became the bride of Dix Laughter, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Laughter, of Matagorda.

Dr. Paul E. Engle of Bay City, life long friend of the family, having christened the groom in his early life, read the impressive ring ritual before an altar adorned with tall crystal vases filled with white chrysanthemums against a bank of ferns.

A prelude of numbers associated with weddings, including "My Heart and Thy Sweet Voice" was given by Robert Smith. The bride entered to the strains of the wedding march on the arm of her father and was met at the altar by the groom who was attended by George T. Moore Jr. as best man. During the ceremony, Mr. Smith softly played "Traumerel."

The bride's costume was a dark green chiffon velvet, tunic style with accessories of old gold and brown. She wore a brown chiffon velvet hat with gold trim and green gloves and for sentiment's sake carried the handkerchief her mother carried on her wedding day. Her band wedding ring was set with diamonds from the wedding ring of the groom's grandmother. Her flowers were Tullip-man roses with Maiden hair fern.

Out of town guests were the aunts of the bride, Mrs. J. B. Poteete, of Dallas, and Miss Mollie Moore, of Cameron.

Mrs. Gilbert McCollum, of Houston, formerly of Cameron, was also a guest.

The bride was reared in Cameron and numbers her friends by her acquaintance. She received her degree from Southwestern University and studied voice under notable teachers and has been a member of the Cameron School faculty for some years.

The groom is a civil engineer, having received his degree at A. & M. College. He now holds a position of much responsibility with the Bendoline Gas & Oil Co.

Following the service, the couple were entertained at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Moore. From there they left for a short wedding trip. The bride's going-away costume was an ensemble in russet shade with accessories of brown.

THANKSGIVING DINNER

Employees of the local division of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company and their guests held their annual Thanksgiving dinner in the dining room of the Milam Hotel Tuesday evening, November 24.

The dining room was decorated with marigolds and chrysanthemums and the place cards were autumn leaves of red and gold, carrying out the Thanksgiving color scheme. A turkey dinner was served to the twenty employees and guests.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Peyton, of Temple, were the only out of town guests. Mr. Peyton is manager of the local office.

Lady's Painful Trouble Helped By Cardui

Why do so many women take Cardui for the relief of functional pains at monthly times? The answer is that they want results such as Mrs. Herbert W. Hunt, of Hallsville, Texas, describes. She writes: "My health wasn't good. I suffered from cramping. My pain would be so intense it would nauseate me. I would just drag around, so sluggish and 'doleless.' My mother decided to give me Cardui. I began to mend. That tired, sluggish feeling was gone and the pain disappeared. I can't praise Cardui too highly because I know it helped me." ... If Cardui does not help YOU, consult a physician.

"AS LITTLE CHILDREN"

The survival power of Christmas, its persistence as a worldwide festival, lies in the fact that it quickens in all of us the sense of human kinship. It gets beneath the surface cynicism and releases those finer impulses which we all possess. For a day we become again "as little children," and the child in our midst is the symbol of the joy which we seek.

A Merry Christmas then—merry because it brings to us the vision of love ruling in the hearts of men, and renewed hope that the dream of a day may yet become the perpetual reality.

Moore Next to Santa in Children's Hearts

Doesn't the thrill of Christmas lie in the spirit and atmosphere of the season? What, on Christmas eve, delights children and pleases grown-ups more than a repetition of:

"Twas the night before Christmas And all through the house,

Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse!

The stockings were hung by the fire-place with care,

In hopes that St. Nicholas soon Would be there."

Who would have thought that the composer of this familiar rhyme was a noted member of the faculty of the General Theological seminary, New York—teacher of Hebrew and Greek!

This man, the son of Bishop Benjamin Moore, was Clement C. Moore. He gave to the seminary the land it now occupies, known as Chelsea Square. Clement Moore compiled a Hebrew lexicon, requiring years of research work. But it was not as compiler of the Hebrew lexicon, nor as professor of Hebrew and Greek at the Theological seminary that he is remembered. It is as composer of the quaint bit of verse that he wrote for his children in a carefree moment, when the jolly boy that was still in him came to the fore.

The children instantly adored "The Night Before Christmas," and it spread like wildfire, eagerly quoted by people everywhere, handed down from each generation to the next.

When Clement Moore died he was buried in the famous old Trinity cemetery, Broadway and One Hundred and Fifty-fifth street, New York.

Recently a children's service, called the "Feast of Lights," has been held in intercession chapel in Trinity cemetery on Christmas eve. Trumpets herald the service, and from all directions come the children, pouring into the church even as they flocked on a distant day to the Pied Piper of Hamelin. The capacity of the church is 2000 but on this occasion extra seats are required, and frequently visitors are turned away for lack of room.

After the service every child is provided with a lighted candle, and the eager band goes forth to place a wreath on the grave of Clement Moore. Trinity cemetery is terraced, sloping down to the Hudson. The procession, wending its way downward through the wintry twilight, animated faces glowing in the light of the tall business buildings of America's largest city.

Alfred Tennyson Dickens, son of the famous Charles Dickens, also was buried here, when he died in America, far from his English home. Upon his grave, too, is placed a wreath, a tribute to the immortal "Christmas Carol."

Then the little ones return to the entrance, where they sing carols. Passersby listen, and into their hearts come a peace and joy as the beautiful old melodies float through the dusk on the night before Christmas.

"What nice manners the polite little Thompson boys have!"

"Yes. They are always like that just before Christmas."

The Constructive View

—of present business conditions warrants forward-looking policies.

WE do not prophesy, but we are telling our business customers who consult with us that there have certainly been established a number of stabilizing factors in general business conditions.

Foremost among the stabilizing factors of the present is the sound banking situation. Official figures show substantial growth in resources and a greatly strengthened structure for the nation's banking system. And a recently completed survey by the American Bankers Association's magazine, Banking, shows that a nationwide restoration of public confidence in the banks has taken place.

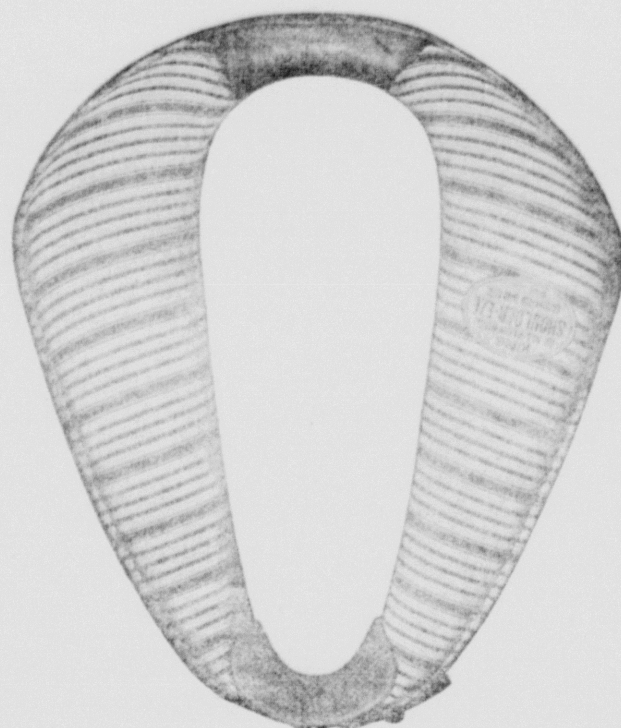

Public confidence is just as important to a bank as dollars and cents for it gives the assurance of stable deposits which can be loaned with confidence to sound business enterprise.

Modern Fuel For Modern Car

In announcing the new Gulf No-Nox Ethyl Gasoline, H. C. Meyer, General Sales Manager, says: "Gulf is keeping pace with the trend in automotive engineering in that we are giving motorists a modern fuel for modern motors. Ordinary gasolines will no longer do."

Mr. Meyer calls attention to the fact that during the past ten years the automobile has gone through a revolutionary period. Box-shaped bodies have been transformed into graceful streamlined contours, new designs in spring suspension add to the comfort of driver and passengers, and wheezing motors have given way to high compression units which rival the powerful engines that are used in America's finest planes.

The modern automobile motor has not been increased in weight over the engine of ten years ago, but higher compression ratios have made it more than twice as powerful and half again as fast. This new efficiency has made possible the reduction of operating costs and the increase of power and speed. But the high compression motors require a faster burning fuel than ordinary gasoline.

The New No-Nox Ethyl Gasoline answers today's demands for power, speed, and uniform performance, and at the same time enables the motorist to drive his car up the steepest hills without the slightest trace of a compression knock.

Christmas Coasting Down a Hill of Gold

BY NONI CLARK BAILEY

A logical association it is—snow clad hill, coasting, boys, Christmas; but this year found Norman at a mining camp in Nevada without snow or toboggan, just a boy and a Christmas spirit.

Men, weather-brown and sturdy, were milling gold from the dump of a mine which years ago had taken out millions in high-grade ore, leaving other thousands in the dump because modern methods were unknown. Tractor, plow and crawler were turning this discarded wealth into the mill to run over mercury plates and into cyanide tanks to salvage gold.

Norman's father was one of these men. Norman had tired watching men, mill and tractor. Remembering it was Christmas, he considered what a real live boy should do on Christmas day. An idea! Finding a long, smooth board and a short ladder one for steering, he climbed to the top of the dump and began coasting down as if it were no more valuable than a sand hill covered with snow.

Again and again he climbed to the top and coasted down, his cheeks glowing with exercise and rarefied desert air. Along came Mr. Sterling, president of the mine, just in time to see a pretty spill from the improvised toboggan which sent Norman the rest of the way tobogganless. He came up grinning, but Mr. Sterling saw a badly damaged pair of coveralls.

"Well, sonny," he said, "I've coasted down many a hill, but never a hill of gold. But today is Christmas, isn't it? Let's go over to the chemist's shack and see if we can find something to use for coveralls." He found a pair of overalls that Norman could wear by rolling them up. Mr. Sterling took Norman's torn garment and dropped it into a can of cyanide. Later in the day Norman stood, in wide-eyed wonder while Mr. Sterling took the residue from the can, strained it through a chamois and presented Norman with a "button" of gold which he had gathered up in his coveralls in the process of his coasting.

It was the most interesting Christmas gift Norman had ever received and gave him a lot more respect for Mr. Sterling.

THREE YULETIDES

Three Christmases are celebrated every year in the Church of Nativity at Bethlehem. The first occurs in the Roman Catholic section on December 25; 13 days later the Greek Orthodox church hold their celebrations, to be followed by those of the Armenian church in another 13 days.

Divorce still seems awful to a lot of people who don't have to live with him or her as the case may be.

Official Flower for Gold Star Mothers

The Superb Drama of Bethlehem

Nothing could be more appropriate than this preparation for the Christian world's nativity. It would seem a gentle reminder that over and beyond the merry hours, the lights, the gifts, the supreme dinner, there shines through the ages a star which has a significance not to be ignored. We find ourselves humbly envisioning Joseph and Mary and the Christ child making their tedious way across the Judean country side to the doubtful hospitality of Bethlehem.

Is it possible to escape the poetic imagery of that night? Are not the wondering shepherds, their awe-struck gaze turned toward the open firmament, very real and human? Can one fail to comprehend the figures of the wise men, staring up first at the fixed star of faith above and then, curiously, at the meanness of the stable to which it has brought them? Humility expands into a superb drama of majestic purpose. The chorus fills the heavens, whose doors, in that moment of time, are flung wide across the face of earthly vision.

And so, from the manger which was to draw human eyes from all corners of the earth during more than nineteen centuries of time, the great road of man's redemption stretches to its fulfillment. So straight does the beautiful story strike into our hearts that life from year to year associates its recollections about the festivals in its honor. It is simple fact that on this day the eyes of the old turn backward almost to their own cradle, to other Christmas seasons, to other scenes and figures, for there is something immortal about the memories of those days in which, in simpler mood perhaps than now, we sat and looked wonderingly toward the Star!

Non-Christians and Christmas
Non-Christians frequently join in the social observance of the day. To them, it simply has no religious significance.

Martha Found a Way to Raise Christmas Funds

Christmas was drawing nearer and nearer, but Martha Woods seemed no nearer a solution of her problem. The giving of gifts at the Yuletide season had been a tradition with Martha as long as she could remember. This year, however, she saw no way to keep up the cherished custom.

During the past months her income had shriveled to where it would buy only the necessities for herself and Emma, her faithful servant. Through no scrimping or saving could even the tiniest gifts be sent to those whom she wished to remember.

Now, as she watched the whirling flakes of snow, she thought how lovely it would be to see the big room full of gaily tied packages, waiting to be sent on their various ways. Regretfully she pictured the disappointment of relatives and friends who would think she had forgotten; they would never dream she had grown too poor to buy Christmas gifts; they all believed her wealthy.

With a heavy sigh she looked around the beautiful living room. The furnishings were luxurious, many of them had been in the family for generations. . . . Suddenly a cry came from her lips. She had thought of a quick, sure way to fulfill her desires. She would sell a few of the lovely old places. She would send for the proprietor of the antique shop without a moment's delay! Her Christmas gifts would be on their way tomorrow!—Katherine Edelman.
